- Summary Discussion
Mrs. Ramsdell-Gilkey presented this case.

Mr. Crenshaw was seen at the Washington Corrections Center on May 10, 2017 for a .100 Hearing.

Risk assessment scores rate him as a high risk to re-offend, and he is diagnosed with certain mental health disorders.

Mr. Crenshaw is under the jurisdiction of the Board in Whatcom County Cause #10006 for Murder in the First Degree.

File materials describe the underlying conviction as the murder of his wife on their honeymoon. Mr. Crenshaw believed she had been unfaithful and assaulted her by hitting her in the head and stabbing her. He disposed of her body in a drainage ditch approximately 25 miles away. He was subsequently arrested after attempting to enlist the aid of two hitchhikers to help him get rid of her car by driving it into the river. He was 38 years old at the time of the murder and he is currently 66 years old.

He has extensive criminal history to include misdemeanor offenses, aggravated battery, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and assault.

He has a long and violent infraction history. While at work release he was infractioned for refusing a direct order and threatening another with bodily harm. He is very antagonistic toward women.

Offender Change: He has taken a great deal of programming, but it has left him unchanged. He needs additional programming.

Mr. Crenshaw had a Mutual Re-Entry Plan (MRP) and made it to Reynolds Work Release in October 2016. He was terminated from work release and is currently at the Washington Corrections Center. He does not like to take orders from women and became agitated at the work release and raised his voice at Department of Corrections' staff. Mr. Crenshaw claims no responsibility for his behavior and he is very demanding. He says he has a Master's Degree in Psychology and feels he can diagnose DOC Staff and others around him. He is overly intellectual.
