Voting with Past Convictions in Washington

Washington now restores voting rights to citizens with past felony convictions immediately upon release from prison.

FAQ

Can I vote if I....

Have a misdemeanor?

- Yes! Misdemeanors do not affect your voting rights in our state. You can even vote from jail!

Have a juvenile conviction?

- Yes! If you were not tried in an adult court, your conviction doesn't affect your voting rights, and you can vote.

Owe court debt (LFOS)?

- Yes! Washington can no longer revoke your voting rights because of court debt.

Have a WA felony conviction?

- Yes! You are now able to vote immediately upon release from prison, even while on supervision. You must re-register to vote, even if you were registered before incarceration.

Don't have an address?

- Yes! Use an identifiable location as your place of residence (such as cross streets or a landmark), and set your mailing address as "general delivery" at a post office address.
