SUBJECT: COVID-19 Outbreak for Eleanor Chase House Work/Training Release

On January 7, 2022, Eleanor Chase was placed on Facility Wide Outbreak quarantine status as a result of two (2) confirmed positive cases of COVID-19 and per the outbreak status protocols.

Eleanor Chase residents have been under outbreak quarantine over 10 days since their last contact with a COVID-positive (or symptomatic) individual at the house — since January 10, 2022— and with the negative second round of PCR and RAT test results on all residents reviewed January 23, 2022, meet criteria for resolution of outbreak.

The facility will return to structured cohort movement, and essential access in the community for employment, programming and treatment.

Work release is not approved for visitation or social outings due to the very high number of cases still occurring in the community.

It is due to everyone's high regard for wearing a face mask, social distancing and following sanitization procedures that Eleanor Chase can be removed from outbreak status.

Please continue with a renewed high regard for COVID-19 procedures and requirements. Your level of high awareness and attention to caring for others in the house and in the community is so important during this very contagious variant. Thank you for all your work, attention, and patience during this time.

Your health and safety continue to be our main priority. All medical directives are in accordance with Washington State Department of Health and Centers for Disease Control guidelines.
